

CALL FOR PAPERS

6th CANADIAN SUSTAINABLE FINANCE NETWORK CONFERENCE

CSFN 2025

June 5-6, 2025

Schulich School of Business, York University

Toronto, Canada

The Schulich School of Business and the Centre of Excellence in Responsible Business at York University are pleased to be hosting the 6th Canadian Sustainable Finance Network Conference on June 5-6, 2025.

CSFN

The Canadian Sustainable Finance Network \(CSFN\) is an independent formal research and educational network for academia, industry and government to bring together a network of university faculty members and relevant members from industry, government and civil society. CSFN is essential to sharing learnings and open the door to future research topics as well as creating partnerships with other entities from across Canada and globally.

6th Canadian Sustainable Finance Network Conference

The CSFN conference invites submissions of original research papers on sustainable finance for presentation at the 2025 conference to be held on June 5-6, 2025 at Schulich School of Business, York University in Toronto. The conference brings together academics and financial industry participants with a shared commitment to sustainable finance, offering a forum for exploring the latest research and educational innovations in the field. The conference provides an opportunity to discuss pressing issues in sustainable finance development both within Canada and on a global scale. Ultimately, the conference aims to serve as a platform that fosters discussions to advance sustainable finance research and education across Canada.

Plenary Speaker

We are pleased to announce that our plenary speaker will be Prof. Dr. Zacharias Sautner, Professor of Sustainable Finance at the Department of Finance of the University of Zurich (UZH) and Senior Chair at the Swiss Finance Institute (SFI).

Policies and Guidelines

- Papers submitted to the conference must be original and unpublished.
- The submitted paper – in whole or in part – must not have been published or presented previously and must not be under consideration for presentation at another conference.
- The paper can be in the process of being reviewed by a journal or as a book chapter at the time of submission, but not “in press” or already published at the time of submission.
- The conference committee retains the right to review and reject papers suspected to contain plagiarized material.
- Changes to the authorship of accepted papers are not permitted after the submission deadline. Only the author(s) of the original submission will be listed in the Conference Program and Proceedings. Changes to authorship can be made prior to the submission deadline, but it is the responsibility of the submitting author to update their submission in the submission site and ensure it is resubmitted before the deadline.
